BUTCHER ANSCHLAG

The Second Day of the Murderer's Trial.

His Attorneys Make a Feeble Attempt to Defend Him.

How He Parades His Ringed Fingers to the Public.

Ho Remains Cool and Collected During the Taking of Damaging Evidence—A Batch of Interesting Testimony — The

Long before the hour appointed for opening court yesterday morning, Judge Cheney's courtroom was again filled with the eager crowd of sight-seers, who, with a morbid curiosity, seem to never tire of watching the blood-stained murderer as he sits quietly by while the fight for his life is in progress.

At a quarter before 10 o'clock, Anschlag. with swift steps came into court, guarded by Maj. Mitchell and several deputies. He giving him quite a respectable appearance For the last day or two he has been suffer ing from an immense boil on the side of his neck, that prevents him from turning his heard very much; and consequently his appearance, as he sat through the day listening—apparently without any very great interest—to the damning evidence of great interest—to the damning evidence of his guilt as it slowly mounted by the testi-mony of each successive witness, was stiff and ungainly. On the little finger of the left hand and the third of the right he wears a couple of signet rings, that he seems to take delight in exhibiting. During the nost part of the day he kept his small, peculiar, stiff hand on his knees, and as he held it he exposed the jewelry to the—as he probably thought—admiring gaze of an envious public. He refused to stir from the jail until he had been furnished with clean linen, for he has asserted that with clean linen, for he has asserted that he believes that his personal appearance is bound to have weight with the court. He appears to have quite a high opinion of himself, and the two days' experience in court does not seem to have moderated his views.

Precisely at 10 o'clock, with punctual exactitude, Judge Cheney took his seat upon the bench. As on Saturday, the approaches to the court had to be cleared, for a dense mass of people had crowded in that could not have the slightest hope of getting a seat.

Having disposed of ex-parte motions, the Anschlag case was called and

Dr. H. W. Head was the first witness called by the prosecution, and on taking the witness stand testified:

I reside near Garden Grove, and knew C. G. Hitchcock from the time he came there in 1876. I was at the grave, two miles southeast from the little-le-ek ranch, when the bodies were taken out. The grave was about 70 steps from the lighroad. When I got home I was told the grave had been discovered 300 yards from my house. I ran down and found Mr. Will-lams in the grave using a spade. I went down, using my hands to throw the dirt out, and then drew Mrs. Hitchcock from out the surface water, for it was a low location, and found her head was cut in various places and crushed. One shoe was missing, and the body appeared to have been put in the grave last, as it laid a little higher than that of her husband. His body lay in much the same position, with the head slightly elevated, and covered with some straw; the head was crushed in and wounded in several places. Next morning, before anyone else was there, I went to the grave and found a pair of brown overalls, a piece of German newspaper and also a key. Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock wore their ordinary clothing.

Cross-examination: The grave could be seen from the road; the tules did not obstruct the view at all. I don't remember seeing any rope there, but did see a keg. I did not know to within the overalls belonged.

Blaine and the Republican Party.

Mr. Blaine's letter, the full text of which was telegraphed to THE TIMES yesterday, is undoubtedly the most political event of recent times. It is an incisive and spirited for rent to people from the blizzard recument, pregnant with truths that will bear close inspection.

It will be noticed that the wording of the letter is such as to still leave a possibility that the withdrawal is not final. Mr. Blaine says, "My name will not be presented to the National Convention." Now, it is, of course, impossible to prevent any member of the convention from presenting the name of Blaine, should he see fit, or to prevent the convention from nominating him. We may, however, take granted that Mr. Blaine means what he says, and does not desire to be a candidate for the office. To sus pect him of any other meaning would be to accuse him of insincerity not creditable to any man in his position.

This withdrawal undoubtedly makes the course of the Republicans much clearer. It is useless to deny that the presentation of the name of the Maine statesman would have been attended with considerable agitation and would have awakened slumbering animosities in certain quarters which it is not desirable to antagonize. Mr. Blaine is a man of very decided and fixed opinions, of strong friendships and strong animosities. His withdrawal leaves the way clear for the nomination of a man upon whom all sections of the party may harmo niously unite. Many names have been mentioned during the past few months in connection with the nomination. Some of these have been brought forward more as a compliment than from any serious belief in the possibility of their nomination. Among these may be included Gen. Sherman and Gen. Sheridan. However numerous the friends of these gentlemen may be-and undoubtedly are-we believe it is next to certain that neither of them would consent to become candidates, and we do not, therefore, consider them in the field. The leader who is to conduct the Republican hosts to victory in the coming campaign must be a man upon whose name no blemish rests; who is recognized as a representative American, and who holds no extreme money yet out of the 90,000 views upon subjects whereon differences of opinion exist among members of the party. We have four men in view, either of whom would answer to this description. They are, named in what we believe the order of the probability of their nomination: John Sherman of Ohio, Walter Q. Gresham of Indiana, Wm. B. Allison of Iowa From these names we hazard the prediction that our next President will be chosen.

As Mr. Blaine remarks, the position of the Republican party is vastly more favorable than it was four years ago. Fort street is considered, the more evi- Prospects were never brighter than at

He has had his eye-teeth cut. He says Columbus is a better place for him than Los Angeles. He means that as we go along we dig cellars and put up houses and gather strength accordingly, by a general distribution of wealth and increase in permanent population. Los Angeles men who

The Dispatch has hit us upon a very sore place, and though we may wince we had better recognize the truth of the charge. The absence of building operations is the first thing that naturally strikes the eastern visitor in Los Angeles. He will say: You have magnificent, level boulevards, an expeditious and frequent street car service, a splendid fire-alarm system, but why are you not building, if you have faith in your country, as you say you estern real estate, sincerely have? Why is it that all, or more, of your citizens who have made money in real-estate have immediately pa up their traps and gone to Florida, or Dakota, or Jericho?

It is indeed time that we commence building and we believe the signs ar very favorable for an awakening of public interest in that direction. ing 1887, no less than nine handsome oottages were erected in Los Angeles, costing all the way from $250 to $1000 apiece and we understand, on very good authority, that negotiations ar at present under way towards the letting of a contract for a hands two-story brick block, to cost not less than $2500. This will prove a great ornament to our city and contrast favorably with the one-story adobe buildings that line our principal streets. Mr Jones, the enterprising Los Angeles lumber merchant, tells us that he has received orders for several thousand feet since New Year's. Five carpen ters are now kept constantly busy in the city. Moreover, an enterprising gentleman from Kalamazoo has been looking over the field, with a view to starting a brickward here, if he thinks the demand would warrant it, as it no doubt will, within a few months. Thus it will be seen that, while building has been sadly neglected in building has been sadly neglected in Los Angeles, the signs look hopeful in that direction for the near future.

peared and ordered the party work. One man continued down posts and was arrested. There is one thing, however, that, as came to the city and had the 13 policeour eastern contemporary reminds us. should be attended to at once, and that is the digging of cellars. We should dig at once at least a thousand cellars gions who don't like our climate, so that they might feel at home. Cali fornians have an absurd prejudice in favor of keeping above ground as long as they are alive, but that is no reason why we should seek to force our modof life upon people who have been accustomed to spend the blizzard season in a cellar and the flooded season on roof.

Pasadena by Electric Light.

[Pasadena Star.]

The most sanguine citizen could not hav prophesied greater success for the electric light than it achieved ast night. The lighting of Pasadena demonstrated two facts light than it achieved ast night. The lighting of Pasadena demonstrated two facts—that Pasadena has the best system of electric lighting, and that there are not half enough lamps. Superintendent Keese wandered about the streets with a smiling face, more than delighted with the effect of his work, and every Pasadenian rejoiced with him. The effect from the Rayimond was very fine, and in driving through the streets many drivers blessed the welcome radiance that lightly their way and kept them clear

Mr. Keese can well be congratulated of the success of his enterprise, and as soon as all the lights are properly placed the effect will be more apparent. A larg number of merchants have already signified their intention of having lights placed in their attention. in their stores, and a larger plant being necessary, the Pasadena Electric Light and Power Company, of which Mr. Keese is superintendent, have ordered a large plant, canable of supplying 50 lights, and it is expected that it will be in place and in active operation within three weeks. AMPLE TELEGRAPHIC FACILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] A decision of particular mportance to California was rendered by the United States Supreme Court today in the Chinese immigrant case of the United States against Jung Ah Lung. Lung, the appellee, was a Chinese laborer who resided in the United States on November 17, 1880, October 24, 1883. He then left San Fran isco for China, taking with him a certifi cate of identification, issued to him by the Collector of that port, in the form required by the fourth section of the act of May 6, 1882, chapter 122. This certificate was sto from him in China, and remained outstan ing and uncalled. Upon returning from China to San Francisco, Jung Ah Lung was not allowed by the Collector to land, for want of a certificate, and was deland, for want of a certificate, and was de-tained in custody in port by the master of the vessel by direction of the customs authorities. On a writ of habeas corpus, issued by the District Court of the United States, it appeared that he corresponded in all respects with the description contained in the registration books of the custom-house of the person to whom the certificate was issued. He was therefore discharged from custody, and the order for his dis-was issued. He was therefore discharged from custody, and the order for his discharge was affirmed by the Circuit Court. The Supreme Court, in an opinion delivered by Justice Blatchford, holds:

First—That Jung Ah Lung was in custody under or by color of authority of the United States, and the District Court had jurisdiction to issue the writ.

Second—That the jurisdiction of the court was not affected by the fact that the Collector had passed on the question of allowing the person to land, or by the fact that the treaty provides for diplomatic action in cases of hardship.

Third—That the case of Jung Ah Lung was not to be adjusted under the provisions of the act of July 5, 1884, chapter 290, where ranta—Inat the case of Jung An Lung was not to be adjusted under the provisions of the act of July 5, 1884, chapter 250, where they differed from those of the act of 1882/84; that in view of the provisions of section 4 of the act of 1882, in regard to Chinese laborers arriving by sea, as distinguished from those of section 12 of the same act, in regard to laborers arriving by land, the District Court was authorized to receive the evidence it did in regard to the identity of Jung Ah Lung, and on to the facts it found to discharge him from custody. The judgment of the Circuit Court is therefore affirmed. Justices Hanian, Field and Lamar dissented from the opinion of the court.

In the case of the United States against the British steamer Heathairly, a suit in the nature of a libel against the steamer to recover about $25,000 in penalties for alleged violation of certain United States statutes prescribing the number of Chinese immigrants that shall be carried by steamers of certain size, their accommodations, and the delivery of a true list of such passengers to the Collector of Customs in San Francisco, exceptions were taken in the court below on the ground that the facts set forth were not sufficient to create a lien on the vessel under any law in the United States, and the court below sustained the decision. The Supreme Court, in a decision by Justice Matthews, holds the libel set forth sufficient cause for the United States to recover on the first and second counts, but must be the British steamer Heathairly, a suit in the on the first and second counts, but must be dismissed as to the third. The decree of the Circuit Court is, therefore, reversed, with directions to take further proceedings.

Jones further said: "Blaine's friends have not sought to set up or secure a single delegate anywhere. We have made no concerted action. There has been no meeting to map out a course favorable to Mr. Blaine, and whatever has been done by the admirers of Blaine, has been done on their own account and not at the instance of his close friends. We have done nothing to secure the nomination for Blaine. Blaine was one of the most foremost Americans, whom every Republican would have delighted to honor, and it was a matter of serious regret that he had not concluded to take the race again. He thought the letter would cause a number of candidates to come to the front. He himself proposed to make the race for the Ohio delegation, and would contest honorably for the nomination. He had understood all along that Blaine would not again seek the nomination, and it was on this hypothesis that he (Sherman) had entered the list.

Senator Chandler said: "The party both loses and gains by h's withdrawal. It loses the effect of his great popularity on the Pacific Coast, and the thousands of votes which he alone can gain from Irish-American Democrats. It loses also the enthusiasm which his name would inspire everywhere. The gain is the support of a small percentage of Republicans who are hostile to him. These being reconciled to the party it would be completely united, and this union will give us Republicans the victory. The free trade message of Cleveland will probably result in the defeat of his renomination, so that we shall pretty surely have a new ticket on both sides."

Mr. Baine certainly was not actuated in taking the step either by fear of defeat in the convention or at the polls. He has given his own reasons and, I have no doubt, sincerely. The first was reached at nine feet and was the man and his devotion as a Republican. He has done much to disarm enuity before. This should certainly remove it all now. He will be at the front for the party next fall, and the Blaine Republicans will be for the candidate, without any sulking, whoever he is. Iowa has voted in three successive national conventions for Blaine, and believes in him more than ever. Now that he is out of the field, it will probably present a candidate of its own. It has two very strong and fit men, Senator Allison and Justice Miller. Both are very strong in the State, but the Senator, from his close relations with the people in latter years, has a great advantage. There will be no contest between them, and the State will be united for an Iowa candidate. Senator Allison is strong in all points where Blaine is strong, including the Pacific States. He is exceptionally strong with the business interests of the East, because of his level-headed and sagaclous career in Congress for 25 years. Justice Miller is known as the trusted counsellor of President Lincoin and all Republican Presidents since, and as the first jurist of the country of the present age.

Every few days we read in the papers about artesian water being developed in localities where, until recently, even the most credulous could not have been induced to believe it existed. San Diego county has within the past few years bored quite a num-ber of these wells. Riverside has re-cently made a valuable discovery in this direction. Coming nearer home, an artesian well is now flowing near the residence of John Wolfskill, on the Sunset tract, about five miles from Santa Monica.

Some years ago the editor of this paper gathered a great many statistics about artesian water, from which we induced a theory that seemed plausible, and presented them to Messrs. Jones & Baker, with a hope that a test would be made in this vicinity, but it met with no favor. We now present

[Answer.—In some cases, yes; in thers, no; according to the experience many invalids.—ED. TIMES.] NOT A DRY COUNTRY.

Southern California.

¡Chino Valley Champion.]

Developments throughout Southern California show beyond doubt that there is a plentiful supply of water in war mountains and valleys to irrigate wery acre of land that needs irrigation and for every other numrements. wery acre of land that needs irrigalion, and for every other purpose to ustain many millions of people. Every lay the supply is increased by artelian well boring and tunneling mounains. Last week a 27-inch artesian flow was found a few miles beyond South liverside; the Riverside Water lompany found a large flow at Mound lity, and William Elliott obtained in immense flow at 25 feet rithin the corporate limits of Riveride. A few months ago no artesian rater was developed on the Chino anch; now there are four completed rells sending out large flows, and sending out large flows, and found in several other wells are unfinished. The Ontario Company has developed more than there is present use for, by l in the Sierra Madre Mounand the North Cuesmongs Comins, and the North Cucamonga Com-ny has also found large quantities artesian wells and tunnels, and has tly commenced a tunnel low the down to tap the very bottom ir artesian wells, and intend to ne it into the Sierras, which give plenty of the most delicious ble water enough in all the lower part of the State for domestic animals, small orchards, a few grain fields, and a couple of villages; now there are scores of cities and towns, millions of acres under cultivation, hundreds of locomotives, requiring more water than all the cattle of the past, and the sample is not any adequate but her being the couple of the couple and all the eathe of the past, and the upply is not only adequate, but being ally augmented, and what is of great apportance, the quality in nearly all asses is of the very best.

Even if there were a possibility of a mark to water in the mountains and alleys, there is no easier place on arth to weare improve quantities by earth to secure immense quantities by the storage system. A reservoir covering 640 acres has just been completed and filled (with imposing ceremonies) at Fresno. The water is supplied from mountain streams, but could be from streams which exist only during rainfalls. In Bear Valley, in this county, a large tract of formerly arid land is now made fruitful and of great value by water from a reservoir. Chino Valley has a certain resource in the by water from a reservoir. Chino Valley has a certain resource in the Serras on the north and the artesian belt underneath, in addition to its unlimited surface supply. Water exists and will be made available to irrigate every acre that needs water, and for all other uses.

F. L. SWEANY, M.D., OF PHILADELPHIA, Is Now Permanently Located at 31 N Main st., Los Angeles. Cal. LUNG DISEASES. A word to the wise is sufficient. Dr.

Sweany of Philadelphia has arranged to combine the new method (Bergeon's) by gaseous enemath, for the cure of consumption and st diseases of the lungs and respir fory tract with his own system, hypernutrition, which he has practiced so successfully in Philadelphia, where thousands can testify to the success of his treatment; and now by combining the two systems Dr. Sweany wishes to say to all people who are suffering with consumption asthma, dyspnoea, catarrh, poisons, etc., or any disease whatever of the respiratory organs, that where is balm in '6'liead.' That with his combined treatment he can cure any and all cases of consumption and lung A FEW EXPLANATORY NOTES.

and all cases of consumption and lung affections.

A FEW EXPLANATORY NOTES.

The Burgeon treatment for consumption by gaseous enemats consists of the introduction of the parasiticide gas into the rectum, where it is immediately taken up by the veius and passes through the venous circulation to the liver, from thence to the lungs, passing all of this distance through the venous blood, and reaches the lungs in a state of purity, where it can be detected in from one to four minutes after its administration into the rectum. If this gaseous substance should have to pass through arterial blood its powerful effects on the diseased lung tissue would be destroyed by the oxygen contained in arterial blood. There is no oxygen in venous blood until it reaches the lungs, where it receives he charge of oxygen from the air drawn into the lungs during the act of breathing, after which it passes from the lungs into the arterial circulation through the system, and finally reaches the rectum and other distal points again converted into venous blood, having given up its oxygen to the system. The difference between arterial blood and and venous blood is oxygen, the former being loaded with it and the latter being devoid of it. It is upon this fact alone that Bergeon, the Freuch physician, was able to make this method practicable; hence it is also that all of the inhalations are of ilittle or no value because, in order to reach the lungs, inhalations must be exposed to oxygen in its passange from the mouth to the lungs through the modum of atmospheric air, which destroy their value.

Some persons who do not understand the anatomy and physiology of the human system would be at a loss to know how medicine placed into the rectum is carried along with this blood directly to the lungs.

peripheral venous circulation (the rectum) is carried along with this blood directly to the lungs.

This method is easy of application and acts directly on the diseased lung tissue, killing the germ of the disease, after which the tubercles heal no exacts. atter which the tubercles heal up, expectoration ceases, the lungs assume a natural and healthy condition, and all of the distressing symptoms of consumption soon disappear. This method practically brings the lungs to the surface of the body, that they may be treated topically the same as can the

We could not expect of a body of carpenters to go onto a yearst let build

Hence, how can we expect na-ture to reconstruct a debilitated and impoverished system without first having the necessary material to be used in the reconstruction placed within her reach. Dr. Sweany's sys-tem of hyperoutrition places these ma-terials within nature's reach, and the work goes on to a speedy and happy completion, for nature is a skilled me-

Dr. Sweany has arranged to com-bine the two new and wonderfully suc-cessful methods, and appeals to all who may be suffering to seek relief where it may be had. The one method kills the germ of the disease, while the other goes to assist nature. What can be the result? Health, happiness and long life.

LOCATION AND DESCRIPTION OF THE BARTON RANCH.

The BARTON is located five or six miles southeast of San Bereardino city and is adjoined by Rediands on the southeast, Lugodia on the east, Gladysia on the north, Terracina on the south and Old San Bernardino on the west.

RAHLROADS AND MOTOR RAILROADS. The San Bernardino Valley Branch of Santa Fe Railroad that runs from San Bernardine to Mentone, crosses the northern portion of the BARTON RANCH. The Southern Pacific passes three-quarters of a mile west of the ranch. The San Bernardino Motor Railroad will run through the center of the BARTON RANCH, and the Button Motor will run along the north line on Colton avenue.

POINTS IN FAVOR OF THE BARTON.

THE WATER SUPPLY Is furnished by the old Mill-creek zanja that was constructed by the Jesuit Pathers over 100 years ago. Water will be piped to every 40 acres. CLIMATE.

The climate is dry and healthy; never too cold and very seldom too warm to be comfortable; nights always cool. People suffering with bronchial or any throat or lung troubles are benefited by living at BARTON or vicinity. Fogs scarcely ever drift in that far from the ocean, nearly every day being bright and sunny.

The rainral will average about 30 inches annually. The mountain and valley view from the BARTON has scarcely any equal. There is not enough frost to hurt the most tender fruits. No scale bugs or fruit pests of any kind. Streets are all graded through the land.

Death of Judge Henry A. Towne. curred suddenly on Monday morning last at Santa Barbara. The deceased, with his wife and niece, had been spending some time in this place, and a few days since the party went to Santa Barbara for a short visit. For many years Judge Towne had been a prominent citizen of Portsmouth, O., where he has been Judge of the Common Pleas Court, and subsequently Mayor of the city. He had also filled other positions of public trust, and was ever ready to aid in all matters of charity or philantrophy. He took an active interest in the public schools and in establishing the public library, of which latter he was a trustee at the time of his death. He was a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal church, and a man of noble impulses and spotless character. The remains will pass through here en route east on the 5 p.m. time in this place, and a few days since the

The Little Lamp. A serious accident occurred at the works of the electric road, on Myrtle avenue, near Tenth street, yesterday morning about 1 o'clock. Petroleum is used for fuel at the works, which is contained in a large tank, holding about 150 gallons. The oil had run low, and one of the employes took a coal oil lamp and went up to refill the tank, which is done by a small handpump. While engaged in this work, the gases ignited from the lamp, and an explosion followed. The man was terribly burned, and may lose one eye. Officer Doyle was attracted by the noise, and went to the spot, where he assisted in caring for the in-jured man. As soon as he was placed in bed the officer started out for a physician. Securing the services of Dr. Cohn, he re-turned, when he was dispatched for drugs, etc., and had to go to half a dozen places before he could find a clerk to answer the night bell. The Lajured man was resting easily at last accounts. spot, where he assisted in caring for the in-

That $500 Robbery.

Some time ago a hardware store on Main street was burglarized, and about $500 worth of fine cutlery and other goods stolen. The thieves had effected an entrance by the rear door by sawing out a section of the panel, through which ithey inserted their hands and turned the key, which had been left in the lock. Only a slight clew could be found, but the officers took the case in hand and set to work. One little incident led up to another, and finally Officer McKenzie arrested a man named McDonald on Saturday last, thinking that he had a sure case. He pursued his investigations further, and on yesterday filled in all the breaks and completed a chain of evidence that will probably land McDonald in San Quentin. The place where the stolen goods were stored was discovered, and the goods located. McDonald will be examined before Justice Austin this morning. rear door by sawing out a section of the

A Confidence Man. Seme time before the election of Mr. Cuddy as Chief of Police a wealthy gentle-man from the East, who was spending the man from the East, who was spending the winter at the Raymond Hotel, was taken in by a gang of confidence men to the extent of $150 or $200 in cash and a $1000 check. The gentleman was a friend of Ben E. Ward, and as soon as Mr. Cuddy was elected Chief Mr. Ward reported the case to him, and asked his assistance in recovering the check before it fell into the hands of innocent parties. Mr. Cuddy at once went to work, and soon located the men at San Diego. They skipped out before they could be arrested, but were soon tracked to San Bernardino, where they were cornered, and yesterday the check was returned to Mr. Cuddy, who turned it over to Mr. Ward. The men had not had a chance to use the check, hence nobody will lose anything.

The Moore Case. Attorney Damron made an application esterday in Judge Cheney's court for a re-luction of bail in the Moore case. The court, while consenting to the application intimated that he wished it understood that the action taken was not to be taken as indicating any opinion on the case, but as two juries had disagreed, having formed certain opinions on the case, those opinions were deserving of some consideration. In that case he was willing to reduce the bail of the male defendant from $1500 to $800, but in the case of Laura Moore, the bail being reasonable, no reduction would be made. The case will be called on the 20th.

A Times reporter, on his rounds for items yesterday, came upon a bit of news which will be welcomed by everybody not sted in real estate on Arlington Heights or in Florence, as of the greatest value. When it appeared a short time since that the postoffice was on wheels again, and this time bound for san Pedro, such institutions as belonging to the people, and not created for the sole and exclusive benefit of the few who have lots to sell, felt it to be a great public wrong to place it so completely out of the reach of 99-100ths of those having business with it, Seventh and Fort streets. Steps were imnediately taken by a few gentlemen to check the move before it was too late. They can-vassed the matter to discover a way out of the difficulty. L. Mesmer declared that the proper place for the postoffice is in the courthouse, and there it shall go. A suffi-cient amount of money was pledged to buy the property, the probable cost of the same was obtained, and yesterday morning a dispatch was wired to Gen. Rosecrans, pre-senting the matter in its rouger light and asking that the Postmoster General be asked to stay proceedings until they could make a showing of all the facts. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a Times re-porter was shown a dispatch from Washing-ton, reading:

W. S. ROSECRANS.

There is now on the way to Washington a citizen of this city who has the facts and authority to present the matter to the department in its true light. The department has no interest in doing anything in the matter to the detriment of the people.

Now, there is no use denying the truth that the people are dis. ppointed. While there are many people who did not expect much, believing it was a misdirected effort, still it was to be hoped that from an outlay of $500 per month some benefits would result. Either it was a misconceived idea, or the wrong man was sent. A Serenade.

The city of Los Angeles is being favored just now by the presence of two musical artistes who possess ability in the special department which they affect of exceptional excellence. we must sow our seed in the virgin soil. "There are just as good fish in the sea as ever were caught." We must reach these people at their homes, before they have made up their minds to go to Southern California. We must inform them that we have not only the most delightful climate in the world, but that we have also very many other desirable features. We must tell them of the fertility of our soil, its adapta-bility to the raising of every variety of fruit, both deciduous and citras; of our advantages as a manufacturing and commercial center, of our beautiful city, with its social and educational advantages, in short, tell them the plain, unvarnished truth, and they will be only too glad to come. There are thousands of persons now anxious to come to this coast, but they are beare thousands of persons now anxious to come to this coast, but they are beginning to hear of the inflated values that prevail all through the southern portion of the State, and dare not venture. They have never heard of Oakland; when they do they will come, never fear. It is our duty to furnish them with the information. Five hundred dollars a mouth, if judiciously expended through proper channels, will do us a vast amount of good.

After hearing the testimony of a number of witnesses, the jury riturned a verdict that the deceased, "John Gibson, aged 55 years, a native of Scotland, came to his death on the 10th day of February, 1888, by being run over by a train of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in the city of Los Angeles." Qailer Russell yesterday captured a large package of oplum, which outside triends were attempting to smuggle in to a number of imprisoned "fiends." The scheme was very ingeniously conceived, and would have been successful but for the close scrutiny to which the parcel was subjected. A tobacco package had been opened without breaking the seal, the tobacco removed, and the package refilled with opium prepared for smoking. The officers have to be very careful to keep out oplum, as the victims of the habit will resort to any device to get the drug. Only a day or two ago a deputy consuable was detected in trying to silp a box into the tank, and ordered out of the jall, and stringent orders have been issued that any person trying to get contraband articles to prisoners shall be locked up.
